MUĞLA

Urban Structure

Muğla is a city with a population of 57.900, located at an altitude of 670 m. from the sea at the skirts of the Asar Mountain which looks like a flat-topped mass of rocks. Until recently it was quite a quiet and small centre of administration with no industrial or other active undertakings; however, with the establishment of the Muğla University it is spreading vivaciously across the Muğla Plain.

The Muğla Plain is one of the hollows shaped like a bowl formed by the depressions during the Neocene period which later became karsts. Other hollows in the region with similar geological features are Yeşilyurt, Ula, Gülağzı, Yerkesik, Akkaya, Çamköy and Yenice. The Muğla Plain is surrounded by Karadağ, Kızıldağ, Asar Mountain (Masa Mountain-Hisar Mountain) and Hamursuz Mountain (with the burial of Hamursuz Elder on top of the hill). It is extending out from the skirts of the Hisar Mountain towards the plain, while on the left-hand side towards Akçaova Vollaage on the Izmir highway, on the right-hand side towards the Dügerek District overlooking the Karabağlar Plateau. Behind the skirts where Dügerek is located, the altitude increases rapidly and reaches to 200 metres at the Yılanlı Mountain within the range of Menteşe Mountains.

Muğla is a city actually possessing significant features but is by-passed from time to time by visitors on their way to tourism centres and the coastline within its boundaries. With its traditional architectural structure; special dishes such as the 'büryan kebab', flavoured stuffed breast, 'cıtırmık halva'; numerous archaeological pieces discovered in the region, and the Muğla Museum where the fossils of animals and plants with a history of 9 million years unearthed at the Kaklıcatepe of the Özlüce Village are exhibited; Keyfuturağı underneath the giant trees overshadowing the daylight for centuries at the Karabağlar Plateau; the Vakıf, Sürüroğlu and Narlı coffee-houses, and the intellectual and hospitable residents, the city has a great potential in tourism.
